

A chess game perhaps?

... and the Black Knight came to the Black Pawns and said "come with me to the chess board, we have a mission"

And so we did, but the Black Knight did not arrive with us
Not really knowing what we were doing, we charged up the board anyway – repeatedly.
We had to start the game many times, as many of the squares were instant death (just the black ones and the white ones)

Eventually though, we got to the centre of the board and found the crazy Red King - who wanted us to rescue the Red Queen

Funny game

But we did that anyway - and the crazy Red Queen killed herself.

Oh dear

Now we approached the end game (the sticky end game)

The Black Knight reappeared

One of the Black Pawns reached the end of the board – and became a Red Queen!

... many of the Black Pawns AND the black knight AND the red king wanted to help the Red Queen meet (yes meet) his (yes his) fate.

Well, the crazy Red King helped vigorously
And the powerful Black Knight helped vigorously
– and even one of the Black Pawns made a small contribution.

And the Red Queen was satisfied – fate discharged
And the crazy Red King was grateful – and he let us get off of the board and go home

Check mate